Saturday 3rd June 10am– 4.30pm

Indoor workshop, followed by an outdoor practice survey at Crossness Nature Reserve

This session is part of a London-wide dragonflies and damselflies survey. We will spend the day learning to identify these magnificent animals, which help us understand the health of wetland habitats.

The free training is for anyone who would like to be involved in monthly monitoring and understanding of wetlands across south-east London.
